Trouble In Grove Near Orange Prevented By Sheriff's Aides

DISPUTE ON WAGES
Some Go Back To Work When Officers Show Up With Gas Bombs

Intimidated by agitators, picketing crews of two Orange county citrus packing houses were prevented from working today. Sheriff's deputies, armed with tear gas bombs, settled one situation by dispersing the agitators early today. Some of the pickers went to work.

Approximately 22 Mexican pickers refused to go to work in a grove between Anaheim and Orange on South street when they were faced with a group of agitators. Twenty others who had been working for the Golden West Citrus association east of Santa Ana did not go to work today. Golden West officials said they believed the men had been intimidated at their homes last night.

Ten deputies from the sheriff's office rushed to the South street orchard today, where a Santiago Orange Groves' association crew was to work, when they received a report that agitators were attempting to influence the workers. The agitators left, and about six or eight men went to work in the orchard. Later Santiago officials said they were having no trouble and that several more men came to work. Two deputies remained to protect the workers.

The strikers demanded 10 cents per box for picking off-blooms. (Please Turn to Page 2, Col. 5)

STUDENTS MAKE 'TOUCHES'

Jaysee Awaits NYA Funds

When a gaunt-eyed Santa Ana Junior college student heads toward a professor this week, the "prof" knows what's coming and reaches down deep into his jeans for the forthcoming "touch."

One hundred and fifty students are faced with the problem of getting money to buy food this week, and for that matter, have been on short rations since Oct. 15.

National Youth administration funds which are keeping that number in school were due to arrive Monday at the very latest, from San Francisco headquarters. It was a downcast crowd that slouched away from the business office today, with the prospect of appealing the irate landlady for another day.

One teacher has loaned more than $30 to students to keep them in school. Credit slips have been issued by Director D. K. Hammond to scores of students endorsing their ability to pay food

Actress' Sister, Under 18, Weds Secretly Here; Kin Act Too Late To Stop Her

Outwitted yesterday, when Ethel Gulliver, Hollywood usherette and sister of Dorothy Gulliver, film actress, slipped away to Santa Ana and was married to George Noisom, in a secret ceremony, relatives of the bride are wondering today just what they can do about it.

The bride, who was not 18 years old until today, swore under oath that she had reached the legal age when she and her husband-to-be filed their notice of intention to wed several days ago. Yesterday they obtained the license and were married at the Wedding Chapel, 2112 North Main street, just a few hours before relatives of the bride telephoned County Clerk J. M. Backs asking that the license be refused.

Last night Earl C. Bloss, one of the operators of the Wedding Chapel, refused to tell newspapermen about the ceremony other than that it had been performed by the Rev. J. L. Tait, also connected with the chapel. He did admit, however, that arrangements for use of the chapel had been made "through our Hollywood connections" sometime before even the notice of intention to wed was filed.

"We never give publicity to weddings performed here," he said, "because that is the reason many people use this place. They want to avoid publicity. In this case, particularly, it is important that there be no publicity."

On the notice of intention the bridegroom gave his age as 21 years and his occupation as an actor.

COAST FACES TROUBLE IN STRIKE ROW

Maritime Difficulties Nearing Crisis Over 'Hot Cargo' Fight

THREATEN BOYCOTT
Arrival Of Ship In San Pedro With Gulf Cargo Takes Spotlight

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 30. (AP)—New trouble plagued Pacific Coast ports today as disputes between maritime workers and their employers neared another crisis.

Impending arrival of a ship at San Pedro with freight from Gulf of Mexico ports, where a longshoremen's strike is in progress, caused ship operators to express fear that another "hot cargo" controversy, such as recently gripped the harbor here, will result.

At Vancouver, B. C., where a strike has been in effect since last June, leaders of the men issued a statement declaring they believed a recent report by Justice H. H. Davis was unfair and that the strike would be continued.

The jurist, after conducting an inquiry into the Vancouver waterfront situation, laid the blame for the trouble on the men.

Stevedores' leaders said that they were ready to negotiate with the employers, however, if a satisfactory agreement was submitted.

STILL WAITING, MR. McLAUGHLIN

LAST Friday The Journal sent the following questions by telegram to Frank Y. McLaughlin, Works Progress administrator, after Hamilton H. Cotton and others had given the public assurance that the government would accept the modified water conservation plan:

Will WPA make grant to Orange County Flood Control District on a revision of its general plan without submitting an entirely new application? If a new application is required, how long will it take to be passed upon?

If plan is revised, will the same amount, $6,574,000, be granted to the district?

Can WPA make a grant in the amount of 80 per cent of the construction costs?

Will WPA prepare all construction plans and specifications?

Who will have direct supervision of the work? Will the work be done under contract or day labor? Is it necessary that the work be completed within the work relief year?

Saturday The Journal received the following telegram from Mr. McLaughlin:

"Have wired to Washington for replies to certain questions contained in your wire of twenty-fifth that I am unable to answer. Will wire you as soon as required information is received."

This is Wednesday and Mr. McLaughlin's informative telegram it still awaited

Madame Schumann-Heink, who does not diet except to eschew liquor and cigarettes, sat over a steaming plate of sauerkraut and hamhocks and discoursed upon her new-found picture career, her happiness, and life in general.

She was surprised, of course, to find herself sought for pictures after all these years. She was delighted, so happy, to get a contract with Metro. She was so sorry about Mr. Jesse Lasky, who announced he had signed her, and later protested to the Hays office when Metro got there first. But Mamma Schumann-Heink had not made any definite agreements, she said, until Metro's agent signed her.

QUIZ SUSPECT ABOUT CASH

Shearer Near Breaking Point Under Gruelling Fire Of Questions

FORT WORTH, Texas, Oct. 30. (AP)—William B. Shearer's battered nerves showed signs of breaking today as the 74-year-old cashier of California's state treasury, under grueling questioning in connection with a $24,000 shortage in state funds, cried out:

"I am taking the blow—what's the use of your hammering away?"

Closeted in a room with District Attorney Otis Babcock of Sacramento, Cal., the aged cashier, sought for five weeks before his arrest here Monday, doggedly answered Babcock's rapid-fire questions.

Babcock said today he would return Shearer to California, probably by plane.

Invested In Stocks
Babcock's reply to Shearer's shouted appeal was:

"What did you do with the money you took?"

Invested it in oil stocks," came Shearer's reply. "I was trying to straighten myself out."

"When did you begin your speculations?" the attorney asked.

"I don't remember."

He answered all of Babcock's queries but clung to his original story, that he alone was responsible for the shortage; that it was

Makale Expected To Fall Without Much Resistance

By ANDRUE BERDING
(Copyright, 1935, by Associated Press)

ADIGRAT, Ethiopia, 9:45 p. m., Oct. 30.—Troops of the left and central columns of Italy's northern armies penetrated a short distance deeper into Ethiopia today and the high command expressed hope Makale would fall without a battle.

Adhering to the policy of peaceful penetration on which Italy is basing its claim that the East African campaign is not a war but a crusade of "liberation," bands of native troops were sent forward in advance of the regular forces to win over the Ethiopian population to the Italian side.

Officers of the high command said that if this strategy succeeded, they expected to march into Makale without experiencing the pitched battle which had been forecast during the last few days.

Fierce fighting has been going on daily, however, in an isolated section of the Eritrean front, southeast of the Setit river, where Ethiopians were massed in greater strength than at any point along the line.

10,000 Men Ready
Military authorities estimated the Ethiopians there have about 3000 men, with 10,000 placed to the rear. Both sides were liberally armed with machine guns.

Italians made many attempts to cross the river, but were driven back with heavy losses, while Italian casualties were much smaller.

Airplanes which dropped bombs and raked the Ethiopians with machine gun fire gave strong support to the Italian defense, while some Ethiopian ammunition dumps have been blown up beyond the river.

Two major Ethiopian chieftains, Ras Kassa and Degiac Ayely, will harry the invader's flanks, reports said, while Ras Seydum, Ethiopian commander-in-chief of the northern front, will harass the center.

IRVINE ENGINEER IS CHARGED WITH 'CONFUSING WATER ISSUE'

ASSERTION BY MC FADDEN IS HEARD

County Chambers Meet In Tustin; Placentia Man Tells Views

The water question broke out again last night at the associated chambers of commerce meeting in Tustin when Ralph McFadden of Placentia, said Roy Browning, Irvine company engineer, has been attempting to "confuse the issue and cloud it in the minds of the people."

The water program caused considerable trouble at a recent meeting of the associated group in San Clemente, and members were prepared to soft pedal it last night, but Mr. McFadden and Mr. Browning had other ideas. Especially members wanted to go slow on discussion about defeat of the proposed bond issue at the Oct. 4 election.

First Mr. Browning reported sadly he had almost lost his job as Irvine company engineer because he had been an "opponent" of the Elliott plan. Mr. Browning did not amplify this remark.

Then Mr. McFadden said Mr. Browning was attempting to make an issue about guarantees to water companies, by the board of supervisors, for the purpose of clouding the issue.

Mr. Browning said he felt sure he could bring out some substitute plan for the Elliott program, which would save the county and government more than $3,000,000. He said valuation of property which would be flooded by the proposed Prado dam has been set too high and is based on 1929 assessments.

Against Guarantees He said he thought the proposed plan was the best ever set up, but that when the board of supervisors entered an agreement with the major water companies "to guarantee the summer flow of the Santa Ana river" in order to buy their silence or consent to the program, he was against it.

Mr. McFadden said he hated to think the Anaheim Union Water Company was so dumb as to fight such a proposition.

"I voted where the president and secretary and his apparent to the throne of the company voted," he said. "There were 160 votes cast and only 30 favored the proposition and I know just about who the 30 were."

Friday Is Deadline The board of supervisors did guarantee that if the water was taken out for construction of a dam, it would be replaced in kind, which was a fair proposition, he concluded.

Floyd McCracken of Anaheim got into the discussion. He was introduced by Judge D. J. Dodge of Costa Mesa, head of the associated water committee. Mr. McCracken said that opponents of the Elliott plan will have until Friday to offer some counter proposition. After Friday, and not Saturday as has been reported, the citizens' water committee is going to start circulating petitions asking the calling of another bond election, the Anaheim man said. He said the citizens' committee has taken no stand on modification of the program, feeling that opponents to the Elliott plan should have all the necessary time to offer a substitute.

MORE ABOUT ETHIOPIA

After the planes of Count Ciano's squadron swooped low over watering places seeking Ethiopian troop concentrations, this caravan leader said, an Ethiopian officer announced that the Italians had dropped poison in the wells and forbade the populace to use them for two days.

ALL IS READY FOR NEXT BIG PUSH ROME, Oct. 30. (AP)—All was believed ready today for the next big Italian push on the North Ethiopian front toward Makale. An official communique announced that communications, lines of supplies and commissary stores have been so completely organized that the troops may move forward at any time.

Whether the advance will be as barren of combat as was the march three weeks ago on Adigrat, Adwa, and Aksum is not certain.

MORE ABOUT WEDDING

Two Operate Place The chapel obtains the names and addresses of all couples who file notices of intention to wed and sends an invitation to use the chapel for the ceremony.

Operators of the chapel are Mr. Bloss, formerly connected with a real estate firm here, and the Rev. Mr. Tait, who says that he is a minister in the Universal Christian church. Formerly he was a licensed minister in the Baptist church.

The first floor of the Finley house has been turned into a chapel where soft, orange-shaded electric lights are turned on when the doorbell rings. At one end of the main room the Rev. Mr. Tait, who is writing a book on religion, has his study. At the other end, in what was formerly the dining room, is the chapel.

Drape on Window The south window has been covered with a heavy, white drape and a white canopy built out from the window's top. A low stool stands in front of the window and is flanked by candlesticks. Only the candles are left burning during the ceremony, according to the Rev. Mr. Tait. On both sides of the altar are potted palms and everlasting flowers arranged in a manner reminiscent of the day when sorrowing relatives and friends walked past the bier for a last look at the departed.

The Rev. Mr. Tait, who came here from Los Angeles when the wedding chapel was opened, formerly lived in Chicago, where he was connected with an advertising agency. Prior to that he was a newspaperman employed in Memphis, Tenn.

"No One Took Any" Finally he admitted he had nothing to do with two shortages—one for $600 and another for $10,000.

He quickly added, however, that "no one in the office took anything. No one had access to the money but me."

"I'd like for you to get the idea out of your head that anyone else came near that money," the cashier told Babcock.

"But you let $600 get away from you at one time, and you didn't exhibit concern and not even check the loss with the controller's office?" asked the prosecutor.

"I did exhibit concern," replied Shearer, "but I was busy all that time and didn't check it with the controller."

He stoutly denied he had "given anyone any $1000 bills."

He said he once told his superior, State Treasurer Charles G. Johnson of the $600 shortage and said he would make it up in monthly payments.

Awaits Deputy Shearer told the prosecutor Johnson put up a personal check to cover the shortage and told Shearer to go back to work and not to worry about it.

Babcock pursued many lines of interrogation as he awaited the arrival of his chief deputy, J. Francis O'Shea, en route here with extradition papers.

Babcock would not say when he would leave with his prisoner, arrested Monday by two city detectives and charged with being a fugitive from justice.

MEDICS HAVE AID UNIT

Organization To Cope With Any Emergency In Orange County

If disaster hits, Orange county will be ready. A complete emergency medical organization, with "shock troops" ready to rush to any spot where assistance is needed, has been perfected and is ready to function the moment a public emergency such as the 1933 earthquake strikes this county.

The organization has been set up by the Orange County Medical society. First aid posts, with chiefs in charge in each town, have been organized. Hospital units have been designated and a smoothly running medical service organization is ready to cope with any emergency.

Farrage Heads Work The organization has been perfected by a committee headed by Dr. James Farrage of Santa Ana, who also organized an emergency medical unit through the Santa Ana post of the American Legion, which functioned during the 1933 earthquake. The entire program has been taken over by the county medical society in order to give it a county-wide scope. Allison Honer, commander of the Santa Ana Legion post, has given the plan his hearty approval.

In case of a major disaster the new program will cooperate with the Red Cross. The shock troops constitute a group of Santa Ana physicians headed by Dr. R. P. Yeagley, who will be available for service in any rural spot if needed. Such an organization will be able to render prompt and efficient medical service.

All Assigned Duties The Santa Ana first aid post, in charge of Dr. John Wehrly, would operate in Birch park in an emergency. Dr. Robert Johnston of Anaheim would be in charge of emergency work at St. Joseph's hospital. Dr. J. M. Burlew of Santa Ana would be chief in the county hospital, and Dr. D. A. Harwood of Santa Ana at the Santa Ana Valley hospital.

At Orange Dr. T. B. Rhone would be in charge of the first aid post at the plaza. Dr. H. D. Newkirk would be chief of the first aid post at the Anaheim high school. Dr. J. L. Beebe would be chief of the Fullerton physicians assigned to the Heim sanitarium. In Fullerton, Dr. F. H. Gobur would be chief of the first aid post located at his office, 361 West Commonwealth street. Dr. J. H. Lang would be chief in charge of physicians at the Fullerton general hospital, and Dr. G. C. Clark chief at the Cottage hospital.

In Other Communities Dr. C. F. W. Kohlenberg would represent the Red Cross in the northern part of the county.

First aid posts in other communities are as follows: Huntington Beach, Dr. R. E. Hawes; Newport, Balboa and Costa Mesa, Dr. G. M. Grundy; Laguna Beach, Dr. E. C. Day; Garden Grove and Westminster, Dr. A. C. Robbins; Placentia and Yorba Linda, Dr. H. E. Bruner; Brea, Dr. C. G. Curtis; Buena Park, Dr. H. M. Counter; Cypress, Dr. E. L. Rogers; La Habra, Dr. J. W. Camp, and San Juan Capistrano, Dr. P. H. Esslinger.

Dr. Farrage's committee consists of Dr. Rhone and Dr. Kohlenberg. The committee has sent a letter to Dr. R. E. Hawes, president of the medical society, recommending that the list of chiefs be printed and sent to each member, to police and fire chiefs, motor patrol chiefs, ambulances and the Red Cross. It also suggests that the list be sent to all Legion posts in order that the work be not duplicated.

(Continued from Page One) Lucas Lucio, local representative of the Mexican consul, said the pickers cannot get their one-half cent per box bonus until all "regulars" have been harvested, and that they want to get through picking so they can take other jobs. Officials of the Golden West and Santiago houses said pickers can make more money on off-blooms than on regulars.

Denies Agitation Mr. Lucio denied that there had been any agitators at the South street grove this morning. He said the pickers simply refused to work for eight cents a box. He said the consul is not supposed to work on a strike situation unless called in by the workers to be a go-between, and that this had been done.

Mr. Lucio said a meeting of pickers was held at Orange last night and that the men agreed to hold out for 10 cents a box on off-bloom fruit.

Wants No Violence Sheriff Logan Jackson said today he is not concerned over the wage question, but that he will protect lives and property. He said he will tolerate no violence.

A report by Deputy Sheriff R. E. Steinberger said today he had been advised by S. H. Strathman of Placentia, representative of the orange growers, that a group of men had been riding about at night in the Mexican colonies, agitating labor troubles.

The men listed were Steve Villalobos, Esteban Rodriguez, J. M. Posas, Frank Garcia, Fred Yglesia, M. Dias and Joe Frias. Mr. Lucio said today these men all reside at Orange and that they constitute the committee which is at the head of the strike.

Inventor's Widow Weds Childhood Friend In Quiet Ceremony

CHAUTAQUA, N. Y., Oct. 30. (AP)—Mrs. Mina Edison, widow of the inventor, and Edward E. Hughes, Franklin, Pa., childhood friends, were married at noon today to the strains of a wedding march from Chautauqua's bell tower.

The Rev. Arthur H. Brown, Methodist minister from East Orange, N. J., Mrs. Edison's home, performed the ceremony.

The couple left on a motor trip of several months, but they would not reveal where they were going. Both are in the early 70's. Only immediate members of the Edison and the Hughes families and a few close friends were present. Mrs. Edison wore a simple white chiffon gown, and the cottage was decorated in white roses and white chrysanthemums.

HALF OF WATER DOWN SEWER

Santa Ana pumps 5000 acre feet of water per year for its domestic and industrial supply, and 2-500 acre feet of this amount goes eventually into the joint outfall sewer line which serves several other cities and districts. From this line a total of about 5000 acre feet of water is reclaimable for irrigation purposes.

This was explained by City Engineer J. L. McBride Tuesday at the close of a joint meeting of the Rotary club and chamber of commerce in the Green Cat cafe, at which Harry N. Jenks, engineer, outlined sewage reclamation and showed slides depicting the process.

A demonstration plant for sewage reclamation is operating southwest of Santa Ana. Mr. Jenks showed slides of suggested plans for two larger reclamation plants which he said could be built to reclaim sewage. The water could be used for irrigation, he explained.

Mr. Jenks told of the various methods of reclaiming sewage, but said that in the final analysis reclamation is nature's own process. Organisms existing in sewage, when placed in the proper environment, destroy the impurities, he said.

DOLLAR BILL TO BE 'HANDSOME'

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30. (AP)—The government will issue next month a new dollar bill described by Secretary Morgenthau as "the handsomest ever."

It will be a silver certificate and though the size will be the same as the present currency, for the first time on any American money there will be printed a picture of both sides of the great seal, which was adopted in 1782 even before the constitution was drawn up.

ASKED TO 'BUY MEXICAN' MEXICO, D. F. (AP)—To combat the competition of American products, the government has made a reduction of 50 per cent in freight rates on goods shipped to border cities. It is hoped now that residents of Ciudad Juarez, Piedras Negras, Nuevo Laredo, San Carlos and Matamoros will buy in Mexico instead of crossing the border.

Police Prepare For Arduous Job Here Hallowe'en

It's an old American custom to swipe the neighbor's fence gate and tie it to the flag pole, or drag someone's cow into the church on Hallowe'en. There will be "goins on" all over town, and Chief of Police Floyd Howard is preparing to cope with the situation.

He announced today that all officers will be on duty tomorrow night to help preserve the peace of the community. Patrol cars will be driven through the residential districts and many officers will be stationed in the business district. Any person caught committing a nuisance or destroying property will be brought to the police station and detained until early the following morning, Chief Howard said.

The Irish Free State and France also enroll themselves in the project of mutual assistance, under which the states are pledged to help one another if any of their number suffers as the result of the boycott. This list now totals 20.

States accepting the arms embargo against Italy now number 41, today's addition being Peru and Canada. Thirty-seven have announced their readiness to apply financial sanctions, cutting off their credit to the warring Fascist nation.

Still missing from the financial sanctions list, the "buy nothing" program and agreement not to export key products to Italy are 19 states of the league. Fifteen have not yet replied as to whether they will join the arms embargo.

FRANCE TELLS DUCHE HE MUST MAKE PLANS

PARIS, Oct. 30. (AP)—Premier Pierre Laval of France was reported today by circles close to the French foreign office to have let Premier Mussolini of Italy understand peace terms must come from the League of Nations.

Previously Laval conferred with Vittorio Cerruti, Italian ambassador, to advise him of the failure of French and British experts to find an acceptable peace plan.

Simultaneously, French officials declared British and French navy, army and air leaders were preparing a program of full wartime cooperation in the Mediterranean.

SUGAR HARVEST COMPLETED

The sugar beet harvest in Orange county is complete and the Holly Sugar company plant at Dyer probably will close about Nov. 5, officials said today. The factory is now turning out molasses and syrup.

There are about 7600 acres of sugar beets in Orange county which, it is estimated, have yielded about eight tons per acre. At a price of $5.50 per ton, this production would yield about $334,000.

sea, to operate under Article XVI of the league covenant (the sanctions article). They said French army and air chiefs will go to London to join French naval officers there in working out the plan with British experts.

Informed sources said Duce was given to understand that if he submitted modified demands along "certain lines" to the league's committee of five, they could then be discussed at Geneva. The "certain lines" were interpreted as being Italy's acceptance of a sort of "lease" on the outlying territories in Ethiopia, leaving the cities of Aksum and Harar and the interior highlands under the sovereignty of Emperor Haile Selassie.

In London, high authoritative sources said today that Sir Samuel Hoare, foreign secretary, intends to sound out other members of the League of Nations as to what should be offered Premier Mussolini to make peace in Ethiopia. He will leave for Geneva tomorrow. Sir Anthony Eden, English delegate to the league, started for Geneva today to take up applications of the economic sanctions against Italy.

Works Progress administration in Orange county was in San Diego county yesterday. On his return today he said WPA officials there told him Orange county has nearly as many men working on WPA projects as San Diego county.

Terrence Halloran, head of the State Emergency Relief administration here, was in Los Angeles on business today.

E. L. Freeland, T. W. Paxton and Robert Colkurst, Works Progress administration officials from San Diego will arrive in Santa Ana tonight and will spend tomorrow in Orange county in connection with the WPA projects here.

Home from a trip that took him as far south as Mexico City, Mexico, A. W. Gerrard returned yesterday morning from the International convention of Christians held at San Antonio, Tex.

Mr. Gerrard left Sunday, Oct. 13, with Ray Stull, Orange, on a train that carried 20 delegates from California to the convocation. After the five-day session, 30 of the representatives chartered a car to Mexico City, returning to San Antonio for the trip home Oct. 26.

The pyramids, floating gardens, scenic spots of the Mexican capital and missions were among interesting sights noted by the tourists.

While in Mexico City, Mr. Gerrard renewed his acquaintance with Vicente Mendoza, formerly affiliated with the Methodist Mexican Mission here, who is now teaching in the Bible college here.

Mr. Stull took moving pictures of their trip into Mexico and of the convention, and has offered them to Mr. Gerrard for showing at the First Christian church next Wednesday noon.

Here and There With The Journal's
Rambling County Editor

By T. N. (BRICK) GAINES

ASSOCIATED C. of C. musings: Much better crowd at Tustin than we've seen for some time. Everyone must've known what a good feed the Legion auxiliary would offer. . . . Even Ralph McFadden, the Placentia rancher, was there. . . . The legislative nose of the Hon. Edward Craig even sensed the spread. He was there. "Santa Fe" Lindsey also present, but he did us wrong, not filling his usual position of first assistant snoop at Placentia C. of C. meeting earlier in the day. He usually tells us what happened there. . . . Leslie Kimmel and Elmer Crawford, Laguna Beachers, ably representing their community. Crawford made a nice response to the welcoming address, telling how he'd lived in Tustin and felt like he was coming home. . . . P. J. Ton, Yorba Linda, booming "Here" when roll was called. . . . Couldn't have missed him. . . . The Simonsones, Yorba Linda newspaper folks. Learned that a lifelong wish of the Misses has been "to yodel." Watched the Y. L. editor trying to wangle another piece of pie, which didn't work, this time. At a recent meeting, he got "seconds" on the pie, only to be accused of taking political bribes. . . . Harry Smith, Fullerton banker. Somebody wondered what he was after? George Bates, the engineer, trying to wring a reporter's neck. . . . Harry May and Mrs. May, Fullerton, and Mr. and Mrs. George Raymer, secretaries. . . . Harry Welch, Newport, trying to talk about his labor. . . . C. Roy Browning and Floyd McCracken of Anaheim, making water talks which didn't jibe. . . . Lots of other things. . . .

ADDITION to our recent discoveries: That Mm. Helene Modjeska, famous Polish actress, died at Newport Beach. Snooping in a history book which heretofore we hadn't enjoyed, told how the beloved actress purchased a small cottage on Bay Island from Sam Tustin in 1907. Her fame as an actress exceeded that of the Bay Island club, after which the island was named, so it was known for a long time as "Modjeska Island."

OTHER things about Bay Island: Was once a favored spot for duck hunters. Along about 1903 Rufus S. Sanborn bought the small hummock from Clinton Andre. The land also included property occupied by the East Newport garage and cost the purchaser $350.

Mr. Sanborn and Sam Tustin were the first to build houses on the island. Residents of the property literally had to "walk the plank" to get home to supper in those days, as a long plank trestle was the only means of reaching the island. In 1910 the ancestor of the present footbridge was built. Repairs have been made on the original walk, but to all intents and purposes, it is the same bridge which was built 25 years ago.

Residents belong to the Bay Island club. From 1904 to 1931, Paul Mariner was caretaker and custodian of the premises — 27 years in the service of the same corporation, which is quite a record.

RECEIVED a gilded and urgent invitation from Chief Harold Robertson, leader of the Midway City firemen, to attend the annual Halloween dance, scheduled there tonight.

We'd go, but afraid that we might step on the new lawn the firemen planted around the Woman's clubhouse. The firemen are proud of that lawn, and might attack anyone who inadvertently trod upon their growing greenery. Still wondering if the firemen are going to wear pretty aprons when they serve refreshments tonight. What'd happen if there was a fire call when they were in the act of passing pastry or serving coffee? Bet they'd all rush out in their costumes. Haven't heard of fires chuckling, but there are stranger things.

BEEN trying to figure something, if 300 men raise flowing beards, as in Anaheim, how far would the whiskers reach if they were laid end to end?

Seems like a good, husky Anaheim could raise a quarter-pound of whiskers. Even a policeman. If that's the case, there are now 75 pounds traveling around on the jutting Anaheim chins.

Of course, that's counting in sideburns, too, as most of the male population seems to run to that style of decoration. At any rate, that's 75 pounds of good mattress-stuffing going around on the hoof—be good hunting for some manufacturer, wouldn't it?

Exemption cards, which allow squeamish individuals to do away with their decorative attempts, are selling high, we hear. Not only do they require a nice cash bonus for the little white slips, but some member of the committee must sign them or the holder becomes a victim of the kangaroo court. Prices for the cards run anywhere

'MAKE OR BREAK' TAX SYSTEM UP TO VOTERS, CRAIG SAYS

INCOME AND SALES TAX PROBLEM

Associated Group Hears Legislator; Erosion Work Explained

TUSTIN.—Voters of California will be asked to decide whether the present system of taxation should be continued or whether they should "break the state overnight," Ted Craig, speaker of the assembly, told members of the Associated chambers of commerce at the monthly meeting here last night.

The most important propositions which will be voted upon in 1936 will probably be repeal of the sales tax and the income tax, he said. Repeal of the income tax would mean loss of $100,000,000 to the state, he added.

"I still am of the opinion that we can reduce some of the state's expenditures," he said. "Whether the system of taxation is right or wrong, we must continue our schools. Some of the other departments might be discontinued and we would not miss them," he added.

The duty of calling a special session of the state legislature rests upon banks of the state, Mr. Craig said. As soon as the banks refuse to take warrants, then perhaps the legislature will meet, he added.

Sees More Taxes
"All we will do if we go up there is to pile on more taxes," he added. Members of the associated group heard two speakers on the program last night. W. B. Hooper, representative of the Soil Conservation service, from state headquarters at Santa Paula, explained soil erosion control activities, and Harry Jenks told of the proposed sewage reclamation system for Orange county.

Explains El Toro Work
The speaker told of work now being done in the 25,000-acre El Toro project and explained the system whereby the governmental agency cooperates with ranchers in continuation of the program. He showed slides, picturing damage done by erosion and methods used for control.

Total cost of the proposed sewage reclamation project is in the neighborhood of $350,000. Mr. Jenks told his audience. He told of methods used to purify sewage and explained the plan for establishment of two plants in Orange county, one south of Anaheim and one near Santa Ana. He showed pictures of plants in other parts of the world, as well as of the experimental plant and its operation.

Farm Adviser Talks
Harold Wahlberg, county farm adviser, reported on agricultural matters and told of the El Toro soil erosion work and introduced Mr. Edward Chaffee.

Mrs. Florence Holmes appealed to members for aid in continuing the fight against disease through the Orange County Tuberculosis association. Ross Shafer of Tustin welcomed members of the organization to the meeting and Elmer Crawford of Laguna Beach responded. George Kellogg, president, was in charge of the meeting. The next session will be held in Buena Park Dec. 10, and the January session in Fullerton, it was decided.

Members of the Tustin American Legion auxiliary served the supper.

In all, they're having a "fine" time.

Coast L-i-n-e-s

By McDONALD WHITE

Lucky people who own homes on the brink of Three Arches bay have had bits of old-world drama unfolded at their front doors. All they need to do is sit on their front porches and watch the show on the beach below. Laguna has been the location of many movie sets in the past, but this replica of Sorrento, Italy, surpasses any previous efforts.

Among the many dark-visaged extras hired locally, Refugio Coronado, our colorful 82-year-old fisherman, was among the first to be "discovered." True to life, he has been playing the part of a village fisherman; only for once in his life he got paid without so much as baiting a hook. And he won't be spoiled by this easy money, either, not Senor Coronado. The young-old man has weathered the tides of life long to have his head turned now. Fish and boats and lobsters, sunlight and storms—these are the basic substances which make Coronado Laguna's grand Old Man of the Sea.

On the set, which includes a steeped church, community theater, shops and cafes, groups of villagers dressed in native costumes swarm down to the shore to welcome home the fishermen. Men wade out to help pull in the boats. Women pull the fish carts, and children tend tethered goats and frolic with dogs. All this activity is a recorded background of ordinary life.

This is only one of the many scenes taken in this picturesque old-world setting. Three Arches is fast becoming a subdivision of Hollywood.

A contingent of the deer hunting party which recently journeyed to Utah have returned. Walt Stein, Len Watkins and Bill Switzer are back in town with tales of high adventure and good marksmanship. All confess to have bagged their buck, although there were no horns hanging over the entrance to Walt Stein's service station.

A. J. Stead, Doc Mallow and Judge Cravath are either back by now or are due back any minute. They are reported to be having a splendid outing, absorbing the specific benefits of the great outdoors, and eating far too much of their own campfire cooking. But a few days back on the old routine will prove restful!

Glad to see Judge John Landell and his son in town the other day. He came up from California to book a motorist for trial. And, incidentally, there are far too many accidents on the new stretch of highway south of Laguna. Perhaps because it is wide and only slightly curved, it offers an instinctive invitation to speed. Some novel method will have to be found to check these reckless drivers. A bright red neon hung over the highway with the words—GO SLOW—might have a psychological effect on a few high-pressure toes. Courts of law cannot cope with the situation. That, certainly, has been proved by now.

Here's an idea that might work. A handicap system. In golf a man is given a certain handicap, according to how expert he is at playing the game. A good player has a low handicap and an inveterate duffer draws a high one. In motoring, this system could be reversed. A good driver would be allowed more freedom and speed with his car as long as he maintained his record. A poor driver would be forbidden to drive at night, with a stiff jail sentence if caught violating this rule or any of the others.

One of the local butchers tells this one: He was asked by his wife to reach up on the shelf for the box of corn meal. She was going to make muffins for dinner. He handed her the box. She pulled up the lid, peered in, shrieked, and thrust the box back into his hands. There were, he reports, 18 baby mice on top of the corn meal. No muffins honored the table that night.

Children's styles were modeled by Roberta Parks, Joan and Audrey June Peterson and Sharon Donegan. ## PARADE PLAN AT ANAHEIM ANNOUNCED

Routes For Annual Event Outlined; Forecast Entry Record

ANAHEIM.—Entries from many Orange county communities and organizations have assured one of the largest and most elaborate parades in the history of the annual Halloween celebration here, it was announced today by committee heads, who said that plans for the yearly parade tomorrow evening were virtually completed.

About 90 entries have been received to date, George Feld, chamber of commerce secretary, said yesterday. The list includes six bands, which will lead six divisions of the parade, and at least 30 floats from county riding stables. Last year's equestrian division was one of the outstanding features of the line of march, and the horse division this year will be much more impressive, it was announced.

Included in entries are the Fullerton Union High school band, Anaheim American Legion drum and bagpipe corps, Spanish American War Veterans' pipe and drum corps, Anaheim Union High school band, Santa Ana Legion drum corps and Tozier's band.

Floats and organization entries include Anaheim High school, Anaheim Legion auxiliary, Lions club, Elks Scout troop, Buena Park junior chamber of commerce, three units of Townsend clubs, Anaheim Kiwanis club, three units from the Isaak Walton league, Newport Harbor chamber of commerce, Merchants' and Manufacturers' association, Anaheim 20-30 club and many others.

Special entries for children are also planned by the committee in charge. It was announced.

The parade will form on East Center streets, with divisions starting on Melrose, Santa Fe, Olive and Philadelphia streets. The route has been announced as west on Center to Los Angeles street. South on Los Angeles to Broadway. West on Broadway to Palm. North on Palm to Center. West on Center to Los Angeles, where the parade will turn north and disband on Cypress, Adele and Sycamore streets.

Starting Time Told
The parade starts promptly at 7:30 p. m., committee members have decided.

Following the parade, entertainment features will be offered in the Greek theater in the city park. Several famous vaudeville acts have been booked for the program, it was announced. Another feature of the program will be award of prizes in the "whiskerino" contest being staged by merchants of the community.

Scheduled for tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 o'clock is a horse show which organization heads report will eclipse any like event ever held in the county. Well-known and expensive horses from many parts of the country will perform, it was reported, and beautiful prizes for winners in events have been secured. Prize-winning animals from the Sacramento and Pomona fairs will be included in entries, it was reported.

The annual celebration will close with a street dance which will follow the vaudeville entertainment.

OKEH ORANGE WPA PROJECT

ORANGE.—Word was received yesterday at the Works Progress administration office in Santa Ana that a project submitted by the elementary school district of Orange has been approved, although no time has been set for starting work.

The project calls for an expenditure of $427 of WPA funds, with $550 to be furnished by the district. All work will be done on the Cypress street school. An out-of-door classroom will be built, showers and an automatic water heater installed, a fence will be constructed and some equipment purchased and installed with the money.

Work was being rushed this week on the Batavia storm drain, which is being finished as a WPA project. The culvert under the Santa Fe tracks was scheduled to be finished Tuesday, removing a flood menace to several factories and a packing house in that vicinity.

Today's short story: "Any amateur boxer who agrees to fight for an amateur program and fails to show, will be suspended if he doesn't have a valid excuse."—Tom Cox, supervisor of amateur boxing. You'd be out of boxers in a week, Tom!

REAL HOUSEWOMAN DUE AT LOCAL CLUB
SMILING SAM SAMPSON hasn't been frozen to inactivity during these past few weeks when the weather man has kept the crowds away from his then uncovered arena. Nozzin' McManus is doing Bud's job, and will show in several weeks under cover and on the following Thursday night will return with benefit of the new roof which will be absolutely finished by then.

And that's going to be a real housewarming because Sam has arranged to install heaters, even. Sam will have Long Beach's Bud Holzhauser, sensation of the Southland, on his first show, he promises. Bud has indicated his willingness to meet anyone Sam picks out—and from the picking Sam is doing Bud may get the first beating of his spectacular amateur career.

One thing is virtually certain. Young Lupe Le Mon, one time Fullerton fullback, won't be an opponent. Sam and a pack more us are convinced Le Mon is downright afraid of Holzhauser. Not that he hasn't reason to be after that last showing here. Anyway, Le Mon has said he won't be able to get in shape.

So now Sam has to get a couple of boys that are almost as sensational as Holzhauser. Johnny Martinez, well known to veteran county fight fans, is one of 'em. Floyd Findley—remember that name—is the other. Floyd does his considerable stuff for Inglewood A. C. Early this month he topped the Diamond Belt lightweight championship in San Francisco.

For that the usually taciturn bay city sport scribes dubbed him "the best amateur fighter to come out of the Southland for many years." Findley won his 35th consecutive fight and scored his 17th knockout when he stopped Jack Holland in Inglewood last week. Now Bud, despite his fine undefeated record and his long string of k.o.'s, hasn't had a sniff of a title yet, but he has the natural ability, the build and the proper management from his father, Carl Holzhauser, an ex-fighter.

Bud has promised to fight and Findley is willing, so it looks like a whoop-de-do occasion for fight fans. Happy times are coming back.

And after boxing is revived we're really going to carry out a threat and write a new act for Pat Fraley. He'll need one against Vincent Lopez.

HODGE PUDGE OF SPORTS ITEMS
As Slim Madigan heads his boys toward New York City and Jim Crowley, the old Fordham standstill, it's not unlikely either, because officials, seeing the tumbled walls of Moraga finances, have

Jim Crowley threatened to slash Slim's salary in half, which lends considerable credence to the report.

By the time Christmas rolls around they may have Discovery's handicap down to a point where the great one will have a chance in the $100,000 added Santa Anita handicap. . . . The big fellow packed 138 pounds in the saddle for the Washington stake Saturday and was soundly beaten. . . . Firehorn, the winner, now comes to the front as a "threat" for the Santa Anita. . . . Listen, there'll be a new "threat" every day or so until the race comes off and then some nag that never was elevated to such a height will win.

BLOWER TO PLAY IN BRUIN-BEAR GAME

COOK SHIFTS BYRON NOTT TO VARSITY

Dons Also Use Herbert At Fullback; Indians Lose Chamberlain

By PAUL WRIGHT

Temporarily shelved with an attack of the influenza, Harlan (Dick) Moore, first-string fullback, will be replaced by Byron Nott, freshman star against Chaffey, in Santa Ana Junior college's Eastern conference football game at San Bernardino Friday night.

Moore has missed the past two drills, and even if he should return today or tomorrow, the hard-driving Huntington Beach boy probably will be too weak to do the Dons much good at San Bernardino. Coaches Bill Cook and Al Rebohn are not banking on him.

Herbert At Fullback
Absence of Moore has caused Cook to shift Joe Herbert, Fullerton boy, from quarter to fullback. He and Oliver McCarter, crack safety, will be in the same combination most of the time with Walt Hickman and John Lehnhardt. Garden Grove's steady halfbacks, Hickman also plays effectively at fullback, but will remain at inside half now that ex-Saint Nott has shown improvement. Walt has scored 12 of Santa Ana's 38 points in conference tests.

Moore's illness will offset San Bernardino's loss of Warren Chamberlain, giant tackle, and Bill Shearer, reserve back. Chamberlain tore a muscle in his left shoulder against Pomona, and probably will be on the shelf Friday night. Shearer, prep transfer from Washington, broke his hand against the Red Raiders, and is lost for the remainder of the season.

Down at the Municipal bowl the Dons have more pep than ever—despite their elimination by Citrus and Chaffey. They can and probably will return to the dazzling form that upset Riverside's potential champs, 26-19, in the first game here three weeks ago.

All-Freshman Lineup
Cook still plans to field an all-freshman team of Walt Hendrie and Allen Tittensor, ends; Ray Devine and Al Oliphant, tackles; Art Craft and Carl Benson, guards; Bob Holmes, center; McCarter, quarter; Al Lamb and John Lehnhardt, halves; Herbert or Nott, fullback, although Sophomore Hickman may replace the stocky Lamb. Bill Greshner, end, and Bob Spray, center—sensational freshmen held back by injuries—will be ready.

CHURCH TEAMS PLAY TONIGHT

United Brethren, invited to fill the vacancy left by St. Peter's Lutheran, will receive a trial test in Community Church league basketball at the Y. M. C. A. tonight. If the Brethren aggregation makes a representative showing against the South Methodists, it will be admitted to the loop. Secretary Ralph Smedley said. The game will follow a contest between Shell Oil and Costa Mesa of the County Commercial league.

COUGARS POLISH AIR ATTACK

PULLMAN, Wash., Oct. 30. (AP) A polishing job of their aerial works is ahead of the Washington State Cougars in preparing for Gonzaga's eleven here Saturday.

Valencia's Night Grid Game With Brea Called Off

One of the week's football features in the Orange County Prep league, Valencia vs. Brea-Orinda, will not be played at Fullerton Friday night, as originally planned. The recent wind damaged the Fullerton stadium lights, and they will not be repaired in time for the game, it was announced today. Valencia will play at Brea Friday afternoon. Other Friday afternoon games send Anaheim to Tusculum, Newport Harbor to San Juan Capistrano, Laguna Beach to Huntington Beach, Garden Grove to Orange.

Garlock Quintet Upset by Scottie's, 34-33

GOAL IN LAST 20 SECONDS TURNS TIDE

Jack McManus Scores; Wiener Halts Oilers As Millers Win

Jack (Red) McManus, sharp-shooting forward from Fullerton, sank a field goal from short range in the final 20 seconds to usher Scottie's malt shop quintet to a thrilling 34-33 basketball victory at the Y. M. C. A. last night. The victim was Wayne Garlock's Service, an all-star outfit that trimmed the champion Woolen Mills 32-22 last week. Scottie's, sponsored by Darwin Scott, probably will annex the Commercial league's first-half crown provided they eliminate Quentin Matzen's Woolen Mills Nov. 19.

Wiener Sets Record
Fred (Feet) Wiener, ranger center, flipped in an even dozen field goals to set an early scoring record of 24 points, as the Woolen Mills regained old-time form in polishing off Union Oil, 45-13, in the curtain-raiser.

The nightcap was a see-saw affair which had the fans guessing until the final whistle. Every regular of Scottie's scored in the first half to offset the offensive efforts of Ed Eastham and Charley Denio, and the rivals went into the third period at 16-11. Eastham, rugged star who can be counted on to register many points in the high school days, tossed in five field goals in the second half, garnered 15 points to win high-scoring honors for Scottie's. Tommy Lacy, smooth ex-junior collegian, was second with 10.

Wheeler, Lockhart Star
Center Doug Wheeler and Guard Leonard Lockhart, both accomplished players, turned in aggressive games for the winners. Garlock played a rough but effective defensive game, and Eastham kept their team in the thick of the fight all the way. . . . Chet Siegel, Costa Mesa's onetime Saint football star, made his first appearance with Garlock's at forward. . . . The second round will be completed in a contest between Costa Mesa and the Shell Oilers at 7:30 tonight.

The Lineups:
Scottie's (34) Pos. (33) Garlock's

Mickey Cochrane Talks Football As Hunting Ends

CODY, Wyo., Oct. 30. (AP)—Football, not baseball, enthused Gordon (Mickey) Cochrane, manager of the world's champion Detroit Tigers, as he headed eastward today, still reveling in the success of his Wyoming big game hunt.

"I'm going back to see the Army-Navy game and some other football teams," he observed as he boarded a train, loaded down with trophies of his expedition.

"The most fun I ever had," was his depiction of the trip which he and Dallas Kelsey made through the wilds of Northwest Wyoming. "We shot a moose, antelope, deer, ducks, pheasants and caught some mighty fine trout," the Bengal boy explained.

He professed ignorance of sports world developments. "I haven't read a paper, heard a broadcast, or asked a question about what's going on in the sports world," he said, grinning. "I don't intend to think about baseball until the league meeting in December."

SAINTS LOSE SEMNACHER SATURDAY

Bill Semnacher, first-class defensive end, will be out with the chicken-pox, and Len Stafford, who plays any position in the backfield, perhaps will not be in the best of shape when Santa Ana's Saints take the field against Alhambra in Coast league football here Saturday.

Semnacher's absence greatly weakens Santa Ana's reserve strength. Bill is a steady player who has advanced ever since his fine showing at Santa Barbara. Stafford's charley horse is much better, but he is still in gym togs. Warren (Whitey) Mann, southpaw halfback, is recuperating rapidly from a back injury and will be available.

The high school's regular lineup will be intact, with Capt. Erwin Youel and Hal Short at end, Bob Reid and Jim Crowther at tackle, Norman Garrett and Joe Crawford at guard, Jack Robinson at center. Mac Beal, missing against Long Beach because of a lame back, will be at quarter; Carroll Joy and Les Beck at half; Billy Musick at full. Jack Schilling, guard; Vernon Carney, tackle, and Don Kennedy, end, will see much service against the Moors.

Alhambra is captained by Bill Fisk, right tackle, who is the mainstay of Coach George Hobbs' line. The Moors threaten through the air on passes from Melvin Nix, quarterback, to Norman Hoy, quarter end.

A.A.U. LEADER RAPS BERLIN OLYMPICS

Mahoney Continues To Battle Against U. S. Part In Games

NEW YORK, Oct. 30. (AP)—Jeremiah T. Mahoney, national president of the Amateur Athletic Union, pushes his fight against American participation in the Berlin Olympics in the current issue of "Opinion," impugning the motives of Avery Brundage and Brig. Gen. Charles H. Sherrill, who favors participation.

Brundage is president of the American Olympic committee, and General Sherrill is a member of the international Olympics committee.

Of One Mind
"We who for a lifetime have been on the inside of the athletic situation," Mahoney writes, "know what is in back of the game that is being played by the people who pretend to be impartial lovers of sports, but their real purpose is shown very clearly by the things they have been saying through the press in the last few weeks."

"It is not an accident that Dr. Lewald (president of the German Olympic committee), General Sherrill and Avery Brundage are saying virtually the same thing. They are of one mind."

Travesty Upon Sport
"They have one aim and that is to let nothing interfere with the Olympics in Berlin even though the rest of the world is convinced that it is a travesty upon sport to hold the Olympic games in a city that stands out before the whole world as having ended fair play and sportsmanship throughout all Germany."

"As for General Sherrill's threat that unless the Jews stand there will be a great anti-Semitic move in America, I think the American people can be trusted to take care of that, and if the American people are reasoning, honorable, fair-minded people, they will fling General Sherrill's threat back at him and ask him what right he has with his petty prejudices and Hitlerized viewpoints to speak in the name of the American people whom he grossly misrepresents."

PAYNE DEFEATS AL HAMILTON

SEATTLE, Oct. 30. (AP)—Cecil Payne, Louisville, gained a decision over Al Hamilton, Cincinnati lightweight, with three knockdowns in a 10-round battle, but the boys will have to fight again to satisfy Seattle fans. The crowd yelled for a draw after a smart rally by Hamilton, but Payne's early lead gave him the edge. Hamilton weighed 132½ and Payne 133½.

New and more difficult jumps are programmed for the National Horse show in Madison Square Garden, New York, Nov. 6-12.

Bears Send Southern Calif. Boys to Tackle Bruin Team

BERKELEY, Oct. 30. (AP)—Coach Leonard P. (for pessimism) Allison believes the best way to beat University of California at Los Angeles' title-bound football team is to throw "local boys" at the Bruins. At any rate, his University of California eleven will have probably 10 men from the southern end of the state, including two from Santa Ana, when it roars into Memorial coliseum in Los Angeles Saturday. The probable lineup:

ENDS—Jack and Bob Brittingham (both from Beverly Hills). TACKLES—Larry Lutz, Santa Ana; Bob Carlton, Long Beach. GUARDS—Dave Anderson, Los Angeles; Conrad Tenney, Santa Barbara.

CENTER—Bob Herwig, Pomona. QUARTER—John Meek, Upland. HALVES—Floyd Blower, Santa Ana; Don Fowler, Santa Monica.

FULLBACK—Perry Schwartz, Mill Valley (northern California). Schwartz might be replaced by Ken Cotton of Pasadena, which would increase the Southern collection by one.

LEADING RACE PONIES TO RUN AGAIN AT ARCADIA

As applications for stalls continue to be received by the Los Angeles Turf club, it looks like the winners of the stakes at Santa Anita's inaugural meeting will be back for the second racing season, opening Christmas Day, without an exception.

Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney, who topped three of the big features last season, has not listed the horses he will bring but High Glee, Trumpet and Jabot were not campaigned much this summer and undoubtedly will be out again in a formidable string. The others are all booked. Ted Clark, Head Play and Azucar being among the double winners.

The list of the stakes that have been renewed, with the one-two-three horses in the inaugural running:

CHRISTMAS STAKES—1 mile, to be run Dec. 25, $5000 added. (High Glee, Chitneyone, Riskulus; 1:37; fast track.) SANTA MARIA—6 furlongs, to be run Dec. 28, $2500 added. (Wise Daughter, Rock X, Wacocha; 1:12 2-5; slow track.) CALIFORNIA BREEDERS CHAMPIONSHIP—1 mile, to be run Dec. 25, $5000 added. (High Glee, Chitneyone, Riskulus; 1:37; fast track.) SANTA MARIA—6 furlongs, to be run Dec. 28, $2500 added. (Wise Daughter, Rock X, Wacocha; 1:12 2-5; slow track.)

SANTA ANITA HANDICAP—1¼ miles, Saturday, Feb. 22, $100,000 added. (Azucar, Ladyman, Time Supply; 2:02 1-5; fast.)

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO—1¼ miles, Saturday, Feb. 23, $100,000 added. (Head Play, Top Row, Ladyman; 1:51 2-5; muddy.)

GRIDIRON PUNTS, PASSES Hamilton Makes Some Shifts

By the Associated Press
SOUTH BEND, Ind. — Notre Dame's players already have had a taste of what they can expect in Saturday's clash with Ohio State. Since they will be outweighed 10 pounds to the man, Line Coach Joe Bollen devised a tricky defense against Buckeye running plays. While the Irish were trying that yesterday, the scrubs worked Ohio lateral and forward passes for long gains.

PITTSBURGH.—Joe Bach let himself in for some trouble when he arranged the Duquesne schedule last year so the Dukes would have an open date before this season's game with Carnegie Tech. Joe's a Tech coach now.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill.—Here's a tip for a coach who has a night game. In a drill under the floodlights Illinois freshmen made some big gains against the varsity, especially on aials. The reason was that, using a white football, they were clad in white jerseys and helmets and the regulars couldn't tell where the play was going.

ANNAPOLIS, Md.—Despite the strength Navy has shown so far this season, Coach Tom Hamilton is not through experimenting. He gave Fay Wilsie, a quarterback, a whirl at the fullback job yesterday and Wilsie obliged by tearing off several good runs.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

QUINCY, Ill.—Kid Leonard, 162, East Moline, Ill., outpointed Lou Thomas, 164, Indianapolis (10).

CAMDEN, N. J.—Jersey Joe Walcott, 180, Camden, N. J., knocked out Joe King, 174, Jersey City, N. J., in the first round (8).

ALLISON SAYS LOCAL STAR 'BEST BACK'

Sellout Looms For Tilt In L. A. On Saturday; Uclans Work Hard

BERKELEY, Oct. 30. (AP)—Coach "Stub" Allison probably will use Floyd (Toy) Blower "considerable" during the California contest with the U. C. L. A. Bruins in Los Angeles Saturday. Blower was held out of the Trojan contest due to an injury but barring adverse developments he will see action against the Bruins, alternating at half back with Don Fowler, Allison said. Blower is a former Santa Ana High school star.

Allison says of Floyd Blower: "Blower is the best back I have. Right now he is as good as Arleigh Williams and in condition Blower is far better. I didn't risk using him with his injury against the Trojans but if he's ready he'll alternate with Fowler at half against the Bruins."

Larry Lutz, another ex-Santa Ana, holds down a regular tackle berth on the Bear squad and will be in the lineup Saturday.

SELLOUT LOOMS FOR BRUIN-BEAR GAME

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 30. (AP)—Possibility of a capacity crowd of 105,000 for the California-U. C. L. A. football game at Memorial coliseum here Saturday was seen today with more than half the tickets sold and the contest still three days in the offing. "I've never saw anything like it," said Bill Ackerman, graduate manager of the Bruin institution. "I've had telephone calls from all over the state and even from Arizona."

50,000 Seats Sold
When the ticket office closed last night more than 50,000 seats had been sold and all of yesterday's sales had not been recorded. It will surpass by far any football gathering the Bruins have entertained, and ran the possibility of becoming the biggest crowd for the season in the west, if not in the country.

While Ackerman was busy counting the cash, Coach Bill Spaulding went modestly ahead with the problem of shaping his defense and offense for the invading Golden Bears, who like their brother Bruins have gone thus far undefeated.

Butch Rogers Flattens Zeller in 41 Seconds At Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 30. (AP) It took Arthur "Butch" Rogers 41 seconds and two punches to dispose of Bud Zeller, 190-pound Tacoma, Wash., heavyweight, at the Olympic last night. Rogers, 184 pounds, clipped Zeller with a left hook and then connected with a hard left hook, putting him on the canvas for the count. Rogers is from Honolulu.

FITTS MAKES PLANS FOR HIS TRIAL

Los Angeles District Attorney Ordered To Face Perjury Count

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 30. (AP)—District Attorney Byron Fitts and his legal advisers today mapped plans for early trial of the perjury charges against Fitts ordered by the California supreme court.

Jerry Giesler, one of Fitts' attorneys, said that beyond filing a demurrer to the indictment, no further attempt would be made to delay the trial in superior court.

A perjury indictment against Fitts' sister-secretary, Mrs. Bertha Gregory, was also upheld by the supreme court.

Reargument was ordered, however, in the case of the grand jury accusation against Fitts seeking his removal from office on charges of misconduct.

The indictments upheld by the state supreme court charge that Fitts and his sister committed perjury during the grand jury investigation of the dismissal of morals charges against John P. Mills.

BOARD STUDIES PLANS FOR HARBOR LIGHTHOUSE

Request that the county contribute approximately $3500 toward constructing a concrete and masonry memorial lighthouse at the entrance to Newport harbor was taken under advisement Monday by the board of supervisors.

The request was made by a harbor committee headed by A. B. Roussele as chairman. Other members of the committee were: Capt. J. B. McNally, Capt. William J. Brown, H. L. Sherman, Mark J. Johnson and Dr. Howard Seager.

The committee told the supervisors the United States lighthouse service is planning to construct a skeleton tower, lighting entry to the harbor, at the outer end of the jetty. The board was asked to contribute the $3500, in addition to the amount set aside for the skeleton light, for construction of a more artistic light bearing a tablet with the names of all persons drowned at the harbor entry prior to start of the harbor development program which now is nearing completion.

BOY, 12, RIDES BIKE INTO PARKED CAR; FACE, NECK CUT

Chester Taylor, 12-year-old Brea youth, is in the Orange county hospital recovering from severe cuts and bruises sustained Monday night when he drove his bicycle into the rear of a parked car in Brea. Young Taylor was thrown into the rear window, and suffered deep lacerations on the neck and face.

David Nejia, age 4, of La Habra, was brought to the county hospital at 8 p. m. Monday suffering from a triple fracture of the right leg. He was run over by a bicycle in La Habra on Monday afternoon.

Melvin Cox, 17, Placentia High school student, is in the Orange county hospital recovering from severe head injuries suffered at 8 p. m. Monday when his motorcycle crashed into a car driven by J. G. Beat, Anaheim. Mr. Beat had just stopped his car on Placentia avenue between Anaheim and Placentia, to pick up two pedestrians.

RACQUETEERS HAVE GAY HALLOWEEN PARTY IN MIZE HOME

Members of the Racqueteers, tennis club, had a Halloween party with a "corpse" to greet arriving guests, last evening in the home of Marjorie and Robert Mize, 602 South Ross street.

Winding pathways led the guests past varied concessions and they played different games.

Initiation was conducted for Frances and Bill Keaton, Delberta Morrison, Laura Pultz, Merle Davis, Mary Jane Norwood and Bob Heath.

Refreshments were served in the dining room.

Others present were Louis, Phyllis and Ann Wetherell, Patsy Miller, Margaret Rice and Peggy Holloway.

NAB MAN, WIFE ON NARCOTIC COUNT

Jesus Lemus, 37, and his wife, Mrs. Inez Lemus, 29, were arrested at their home in Anaheim by state narcotic officers Monday night, and lodged in the county jail on charges of violation of the state narcotic act. Justice of the Peace K. E. Morrison ordered the pair held under $5000 bond each.

The two defendants were arrested by State Narcotic Inspectors Beckner and Harrigan who, according to Justice Morrison, purchased Indian hemp from Mr. and Mrs. Lemus.

Garden Grove Citrus House Manager Tells Why He's Against Standardizing Law

Ernest J. Smale, manager of the Garden Grove Mutual Citrus association, today amplified his recent criticism of the citrus standardization law and its enforcement. The Journal has published a series of articles by Holmes Bishop, farm bureau director and prominent orange grower, outlining the other side of the question. Mr. Smale several weeks ago attacked the standardization regulations at a Garden Grove farm center meeting, where he was answered by Mr. Bishop. The next day The Journal published news of this, and on the following day printed opinions of other packing house managers who defended the standardization laws. Mr. Smale has submitted the following article amplifying his position with the request that it be published.

By ERNEST J. SMALE

Inasmuch as my attack on the standardization law covering citrus fruit, given at the last Garden Grove farm bureau center meeting, was partly reported in the press, and as on the following day various managers of packing houses in Orange county were polled by their opinion regarding the standardization law, and seemed to be of a unanimous opinion that it was all right—some going so far as to say it should be made stronger—and as some growers have come to me asking for a re-statement of the underlying facts concerning the law, I submit the following:

In my talk at the farm bureau center meeting I prefaced my remarks with the statement that I was looking at the law solely from the standpoint of a grower. For the past 48 years I have made my living from the soil, and I believe the man who plants the trees, develops the water, plants the corn, garners the grain to feed the children of men, has a right that should not be abridged by any law, namely: the right to market the products of his labor as long as it contains food value and he can find a market for the same, and does not misrepresent the quality of the product that he markets.

I hold no brief for the packing house managers of Orange county; they are a fine lot of men; they have their problems, but this problem is primarily the problem of the grower—not of the packing house managers. It will be the grower's fruit that will be condemned—not the packing house manager's. The grower must raise his fruit; pay the irrigation, fumigation, fertilizer and cultivation costs; he must pay his taxes, interest on his mortgage and from the sale of the fruit must be paid the packing house manager's salary and all other costs of marketing. Even if the packing house manager should be arrested and fined for the violation of this law, that fine is absorbed through the overhead in the packing house and reverts as another burden on the grower.

Illustrates Law

Now, WHAT IS THE LAW? It is this—if more than one-third of the oranges in over 10 per cent of the fruit is affected then the fruit shall be condemned unless it can be re-conditioned to meet the requirements of the law. Let me illustrate this again:

You are a grower and I am a grower. In an analysis of your fruit two oranges out of every 20 are dry due to crystallization; you can pack and ship the whole of your fruit.

In my oranges three out of every 20 are dry due to crystallization and I cannot pack any of my fruit unless I can segregate the fruit that is dry and reduce it to the 10 percent, similar to yours.

On the other hand, your two oranges may be absolutely dry, thereby having a complete loss of 10 per cent of your fruit, and my three oranges that are affected may be only partially dry, or one-half of the orange in each of the three oranges may be perfectly good, thereby having a loss of only one and one-half oranges out of the 20, and the balance of my fruit may be far superior to yours. Your total loss to a consumer is 10 per cent; my total loss is only 7½ per cent; yet I will not be allowed to sell my fruit unless I can segregate one of my crystallized oranges and insert a good one in its place. That is hard to do.

Would Change Title

I maintain this law should be changed from a "standardization law" to a "classification law." That is—the grower should have the right to market his fruit, regardless of grade or quality, as long as he puts on the outside of the container the condition and quality of the fruit within the container; that is, if it contains 1 per cent, 15 per cent or 50 per cent crystallization, because when you deny the right of a man to market the products of his toil, so long as he does not misrepresent the product, in order that he might make a livelihood, you take away from him the right of life itself under present economic conditions.

Another ruling under this law: You have two groves; one, on examination, shows 15 per cent crystallization and cannot be segregated by packing house methods. The other grove has no crystallization, and you conceive the idea of picking both groves at the same time, and mix them together, thereby reducing the crystallization percentage to 10 per cent. A fine idea, but you can not do that. That is called adulteration. The guy who thought that up sure loved the dirt farmer. When they made this law they also made a pure food law to correspond with the standardization law. This is a prostitution of the idea and intent of the pure food law because fruit, where 10 per cent of the oranges are crystallized, is very little better than fruit that contains 15 per cent crystallization. Neither lot should be condemned from a pure food standpoint as only the fruit that is not affected would be eaten anyway.

That 1 Per Cent Margin

Under this law I can ship fruit that is 10 per cent defective, and I am a saint, but if I ship fruit that is 11 per cent defective I am a rascal and a scoundrel and subject to arrest, fine and imprisonment, and my property can be confiscated. This is absolutely silly.

This law is manifestly unfair to both the producer and consumer because I am allowed to market the fruit that is 10 per cent worthless and the consumer is unconscious of it. It would be much fairer to both the producer and consumer if the percentage of the defect was plainly marked on the outside of the container, as then the man who shipped absolutely perfect fruit would profit therefrom and the consumer would be conscious of how many defective ones there were in the commodity he was buying. Some will say that the merchant will not inform himself of the condition of the fruit when he puts it on the stand for sale. I am not willing to "hang the producer" for the "wrongdoings of the merchant."

Under this law it is right to fool the consumer on 10 per cent of the fruit, but it is wrong to fool him on 11 per cent of the fruit. How absurd. In the change that I recommend the consumer will know exactly what he is buying because the percentage of crystallization can be determined in the packing house by examination, but it is very often impossible to segregate the defective fruit from the good fruit as it all looks alike.

Suggests Elimination

The law of supply and demand will determine how low the grade will be. When you attempt to set the grade that can be shipped by statute laws you immediately make this law an "elimination program"—making the burden by statute law fall heaviest on those who are suffering already from low grade due to the forces of nature.

If the industry feels there is a surplus, an elimination program should be put into effect. That elimination should be on a percentage basis; that is, if we agree to eliminate 20 per cent or more, then each grower eliminates that percentage of his fruit. The burden of elimination then falls alike on all, and the profits derived therefrom is shared equally by all, but to eliminate one man's fruit because of grade, size or quality, to make a market, or a better market, for another man's fruit because his is of better grade, size or quality is manifestly unfair. That is what the present standardization law does.

The pro-rate law is similar to the above described elimination program. In other words, a committee of the whole sets the amount of fruit to be shipped during certain periods of time—each shipper participating in the shipment in proportion to the fruit he controls bears to the whole. This makes the burden of pro-rating and the benefits of pro-rating fall alike on all. The underlying principle of both these programs are fundamentally sound, but the principle underlying the standardization act is absolutely unsound in that it denies the right of the individual to market that which he has produced in order to gain his livelihood.

Lumber and Clothing

The farmer is the only man I know of that has this type of law that applies to the product he sells. For instance: I buy a load of lumber; I notice one of the boards is so full of knots that there is hardly enough lumber to hold the knots together. The lumber industry does not say to the man that owned that timber, "We won't allow you to cut that timber and attempt to market it, to make your livelihood, because it will interfere with the sale of our better grade of timber." They recognize the fact that that is all he has to make his livelihood from and they know that in the building industry there is a place for even that grade of timber.

We will assume that the people who handle Hart, Shaffner & Marx clothing in Santa Ana have a fire. Hart, Shaffner & Marx do not say to their agent, "You cannot sell those suits of clothes because they are damaged by fire" or other causes. They say, "Put on a fire sale and salvage what you can out of it." But the orange industry says to the grower, who has been struck inadvertently by the force of nature, and crystallization has appeared in his fruit, that "you cannot market that fruit unless you make it 90 per cent perfect."

Robert Strain, Manager of the American Fruit Growers Packing House in Fullerton said, as quoted in the papers, "in a year where there is a short crop and high prices it might be advisable to lift the tolerance limit slightly, but in a year like this, with a heavy crop, it should be enforced up to the limit."

on the statute books 24 hours. If it is wrong when it hurts 50 per cent of the growers it is wrong if it hurts only one.

The Wordings' Changed

Now, as regards the law and the virtue of the law: We are descendants from a race of people who felt the king could do no wrong. We have just changed the ruling minority or ruling majority leads inevitably to rebellion and revolution. This principle is the underlying principle of democracy. If this law seriously affects the law-makers of the preceding generation, the mission of man is not to "worship" law, but to do "justice."

Now, as to "playing the game according to the rules." The Carpenter of Nazareth when He said "a new commandment I give unto you" was only saying in other words, "I disagree with the rules of the game," and He was out to change the rules of the game of His day and age. They crucified Him.

Thomas Jefferson, when he wrote the Declaration of Independence, and told the kings, the dukes, the counts, and the "no-accounts" to go jump into the Atlantic ocean—that on this continent would be built a nation founded on liberty, justice and equality (every man a king) was only saying he "disagreed with the rules of the game," and he and Washington went out to change those rules. If the king's army could have caught Jefferson and Washington they would have been hanged, but they did not, and American democracy was born and still lives.

Plan To Fight

Lincoln, when he issued the proclamation of emancipation, and chattel slavery was abolished, was only saying he "disagreed with the rules of the game" and he certainly changed the rules of the game for the betterment of mankind. They assassinated him.

If man, all through the ages, had not at times defied the rules of the game, humanity would still be living in the dark ages. I charge that this law is vicious in nature, confiscatory in character, and un-American in principle, and, though I stand alone—a minority of one among the packing house managers—I condemn with all the force I have, and will work with all the energy I have, for the obliteration of this law and the re-writing under the lines I have stated above.

When I cease to have the inter-tinal fortitude to stand up for the things I believe are right, and condemn the things I think are wrong, then senility has set in, and I am dying at the top and it is time to call the undertaker.

ONE KILLED, FOUR HURT WHEN BIG BOMBER CRASHES IN FLAMES

CRAFT FALLS DURING TEST AT DAYTON

Two Officers Risk Lives To Save Men In Ship; Two Motors Quit

DAYTON, O., Oct. 30. (AP)—A new Boeing bomber fell at Wright field today, injuring five men, one of them fatally.

The giant four-motored plane crashed on a takeoff and caught fire.

The plane was one of three undergoing extensive tests for possible purchase by the U. S. army. It was one of the largest ever built in the United States.

The Victims

Major P. P. Hill, chief of the firing division.

Injured: Lieut. Donald L. Putt, injured slightly.

Leslie Tower, chief pilot of the Boeing Aircraft company, injured seriously.

John Cutting, test observer, injured slightly.

Mark Kogler, Wright field attaché, hurt slightly.

Wright field officials said lives of four of the plane occupants probably were saved by the heroic action of Lieut. R. K. Giovannoli and L. F. Hartman.

The two men rushed inside the burning plane and carried out the five men.

Cost Half Million

The huge ship—105 feet in wing spread, and capable of 250 miles an hour speed under full five-ton load—roared into the air and had climbed about 100 feet when the two left motors cut out, witnesses said.

Its right motors pulling full-out, the big ship spun in the air and snapped to earth in flames. It did not overturn.

Reported as costing $500,000 to develop, the huge craft was offered to the army at $200,000 in lots of 25.

It carried four machine gun nests in addition to a bombing load, had retractable landing gear, and could cruise from six to 10 hours under full load at a speed of from 170 to 220 miles an hour.

The cause of the crash was not determined.

An army board of inquiry immediately began investigation.

TRUCK DRIVER HELD

Boo Beck, 22, Seattle, Wash., was arrested by Highway Patrolman Floyd Yoder in Tustin Monday, and is being held in the county jail under $100 bail, charged with failure to register and pay proper fees on an out-of-state truck, failure to have proper identification, and driving an overloaded truck. Beck was en route to Seattle with a truck load of oranges. His companion was released.

MUSEUM GETS UNIQUE CANE From Old 'Hoosier' School

A cane, cut from a log in the old schoolhouse in Brooksbury, Ind., has been presented to the Bowers Museum by Mrs. William S. McKay of Santa Ana. The old schoolhouse from which the piece of wood was taken is the same old structure that inspired Edward Eggleston to write his immortal "Hoosier Schoolmaster." The cane was the property of the late William S. McKay, for many years a newspaper man and later an insurance agent in Santa Ana and Orange.

33 BURNED IN L.A. STREET CAR BLAZE

Blast In Control Box Sprays Flames Over Crowded Trolley

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 30. (AP)—With 33 passengers nursing painful burn injuries, an investigation loomed today into near-disastrous fire in a crowded street car in downtown Los Angeles late yesterday, sending patrons into a panic.

A sudden blast from the motor-man's control box sprayed flames over passengers and the operator, and four fire wagons rushed through peak traffic to save the blazing trolley.

Apparently caused by a short circuit, the blaze occurred as the car, of the Los Angeles Street Railway system, rounded a turn at Main and Fifth streets.

Fear-stricken passengers fought to escape through windows and the rear exit, and Motorman R. J. Crothers, his clothing in flames, remained at the controls until the car was stopped.

Rescue work was cramped as hundreds closed in to witness the blaze.

All but two of the 33 burned were treated at emergency hospitals and sent home. Miss Elizabeth Barrett, 30, and Isadore Kapistan, 45, were held for further treatment.

Thousands of shrubs, most of them natives of Southern California, will be planted at the Rancho Santa Ana Botanic Gardens during the coming years as a part of the program of experimentation being conducted under the direction of Dr. Carl Wolf and E. R. Johnson. Plans for the program occupied a large portion of the discussion at a directors' meeting held at the gardens Saturday.

Dr. Wolf told board members that planting of the shrubs will be made in an attempt to find just what kind is most suitable for growth on road cuts. It is a part of a plan for erosion control, he said. Dr. Wolf also reported on the progress of the botanic gardens cypress project. He told members of the board that in the near future several thousand cypress trees will be planted in California in an attempt to find the most suitable variety for use as windbreaks.

Four Orange county Works Progress administration projects, to cost $49,284 and employ 176 men, have been approved by the WPA district headquarters at San Diego, it was reported today by George White, district administrator. Confirmation at Washington is necessary before the projects can be launched.

The largest project, costing $23,578 and employing 67 men, provides for installation of 16,294 feet of six and four-inch water mains, valve and fire hydrants on South Brookhurst avenue, North Cypress and Gilbert avenues, in Fullerton. This project will replace old mains with larger pipe and provide water service to districts not now having it.

Another Fullerton project calls for installation of 4393 feet of water mains on Brea road and Chapman avenue. This will increase pressure and provide water for new districts. The cost will be $8293 and jobs will be supplied to 69 men.

The Newport Harbor Union High school district gained approval of a project for improving the school grounds, installing drain pipe, constructing gutters and curbs and planting 1300 trees and shrubs. The project will cost $6313 and employ 14 men.

The fourth project calls for building of two classrooms and restrooms as additions to the Mexican grammar school at Stanton. Twenty-six men will be employed and the job will cost $10,800.

Not Responsible For Care of Wife's Parents

Neither the husband nor the wife is responsible for care of the wife's parents, under the state old age pension law, if the wife has no independent income of her own, according to a ruling submitted to the board of supervisors yesterday by Attorney General U. S. Webb.

The ruling had been requested by B. V. Curry, head of the county welfare department, which administers the old age pensions in this county.

Attorney General Webb held that if the wife has no independent income neither she nor her husband are responsible for the support of her parents as all community property is under the control of the husband.

DEPUTY'S KINDNESS WINS Erring Youth Writes Thanks

Several months ago, Deputy Sheriff James Ragan arrested a 17-year-old boy for the theft of an automobile. Other officers had branded the boy as dangerous, but Deputy Ragan saw something in the lad that made him want to help him. He treated the boy just as though he might have been his own son.

"He was just a swell kid who had somehow or other got started on the wrong track," Deputy Ragan said. "I talked to him, and advised him. He was sent to Ione, and just the other day he was released. Monday I received a letter from Texas. It read:

"Dear Jimmy: I should have written you sooner, but I could not get a chance. You see, they only let us write our parents while we are in Preston or Ione.

"I have gained my state release from Ione, and I am now going back to my father. Isn't that swell?

"I am at present waiting for the moving train tomorrow, to take me home. I arrived here at 11:30. It is quite cold, too. I'm writing this letter in a 'four-bit' hotel room, and it's every bit of four bits, too, even to the rug that isn't on the floor.

"Jimmy, I don't know how I'll ever thank you for the way you treated me. You seemed to throw a different light on things from my point of view. I'm going to school and try to learn all I can, and above all, see how it feels to be honest and keep my hands off of other people's property. When you explained to me in your way about the above, you gained a friend for life. I discovered in you something that I never found in anyone else, and that's a most friendly personality and a splendid character. Please don't accept this as flattery, because it isn't meant to be. It's straight from the shoulder.

GRAND JURIES—WHY?

THIS old nation of ours is saturated with broken promises of politicians, the chief offenders being those who predicate their campaign on tax reductions. If all of the candidates who have been elected to office on the pledge of economy had kept faith with their constituency, city, county, state and national indebtedness would be so low we would welcome the assessors and tax collectors and invite them to an occasional luncheon.

Presiding Judge James L. Allen introduced a new note in governmental economy when he gave instructions to the 1935-36 grand jury, and advised that inquisitorial body not to "waste time making useless reports and recommendations to which no one ever paid any attention."

The court's observation as to the necessity of a grand jury other than for the purpose of returning indictments, and an annual investigation to see that county funds are being properly administered, projects a new note into grand jury authority.

Evidently the jurist is convinced that there is no necessity for a grand jury to prolong its sessions for six months, with its attendant expense burden on an already overloaded taxed constituency.

Many members of the legal profession are of the opinion there is about as much necessity for a grand jury, as there is a board of parole. Both are unessential and expensive.

It will be interesting to observe the effect of Judge Allen's instructions upon the newly drawn grand jury. With the multiplying taxing bodies which are being imposed upon the people year after year, it is refreshing to find a judge who not only recognizes the evil of such a tendency, but has courage enough to denounce it.

WAR PROFITS OR PEACE?

THE PLIGHT of the Simple Simon who wants to eat his cake and have it too is as nothing as compared to the difficulties besetting a nation which wants to have both war profits and neutrality.

The government's neutrality stand has already brought some anguished squawks. The loudest has come from the Conference on Port Development of the City of New York, Inc., an organization of shipping and exporting firms which has protested vehemently against the trade restriction as "hasty and ill-advised."

This organization declares that American trade with Italy has given jobs to thousands of citizens, especially in the New York area, through which 90 per cent of our exports to Italy flow. After asserting that the neutrality proclamation "virtually abandons America's traditional insistence upon neutral trading rights and freedom of the seas," it adds:

"Our exports to Italy have exceeded those of other nations, and are now at stake unnecessarily. . . Italy offers us a market for our surplus and she buys more than she sells us on balance."

All this is probably quite true—and it just goes to remind us all that peace, like every other blessing attainable by man, has its price.

For the one thing that ought to be clear, in any discussion of neutrality legislation, is this: we can keep our skirts clear and avoid the danger of being drawn into a foreign war, or we can make hay while the sun shines and cash in on war orders—but we cannot possibly do both.

Living up to the arms embargo will be costly; make no mistake about that. It will prevent us from selling many a bill of goods. If the present war should spread and involve such nations as England and France, our loss will be even greater.

Nations at war need to buy many things, and they are things which we are peculiarly well equipped to sell them.

But self-denial of that kind is the price of peace. If we are determined not to get drawn into another European war, our one hope is to forget about the profits.

The lesson of 1917 is unmistakable. When you set yourself up as a warehouse and granary for a warring nation, you are simply leading with your chin; sooner or later you find your own fortunes inextricably tied up with the fortunes of your chief customer.

The anguish of these New York exporters is natural and understandable. Our embargo, even though it is incomplete, is costing them money. What we need to keep in mind is that any sound neutrality program is bound to be expensive.

But you might remember that the profits we would have lost if we had refused to sell goods to England and France during the World War would never have amounted to a tenth of the money we actually did lose by going to war on their side.

BREAD PRICES

PROCESSING taxes now account for more than half a cent in the price of each one-pound loaf. A one-cent price increase is estimated to cost consumers about 100 millions a year. The added cost of processing taxes is said to be 51 millions a year.

Question often is asked how the money paid for a loaf is split up. Here's the answer, according to an analysis just made:

For the grain in an average loaf, costing nine cents, the farmer gets about 1½ cents.

An eight and a half cent loaf splits up like this: Flour, 2.16 cents; labor and distribution, 3.53 cents; sugar, salt, shortening, malt, etc., .921 cent; profit (less overhead) for grocer, 1.279 cents.

The processing tax works out at about half a cent a pound, figured at 30 cents a bushel of wheat.

Whimsies

of O. O. McIntyre

Mark Hellinger appears to be the first columnist voluntarily to give up his trade. After 10 years of the grind, he seeks new pastures at 33.

O. O. McIntyre

Most columnists profess private and sometimes public they want to get away from it all.

But it's mostly talk. None makes the break. A compilation places the number of columnists, exclusive of the sports pages, at 400. And schools of journalism declare that about half the entrance students have a leaning toward this calling.

It is probable the columnist who inspired more fledglings to columnistic flights was Bert Leston Taylor, the celebrated B. L. T. His column was the generating ground for several contributors who have become columnists. It is true the brawny George S. Kaufman tried columnizing awhile.

And gave it up for a more spectacular career in playwrighting. But his tenure was so brief he could not be regarded as a seasoned member of the guild.

Willard Huntington Wright, the fictioneer, S. S. Van Dine, also had a columnar fling but not long enough to become really established.

Vicki Baum was three sheets as the originator of the "Type of Fiction" that flourished in "Grand Hotel." Most folk thought she was first to bring together a lot of characters under one roof, all at cross purposes, yet dominated by one sustaining link. The fact is the idea was frequently exploited before Miss Baum's effort, particularly in Charles Rann Kennedy's fine propaganda play, "The Servant in the House," to my mind the most moving play ever produced.

I have a friend who has a most devoted Japanese servant. He has been on the job 12 years, and save for a brief visit to Japan has refused to take a vacation. The other day he left this resignation on the breakfast tray: "Honorable sir: I leave you on Saturday because the doctor he say I must live. Please let me go without saying goodbye. That would make me very sad."

It strikes me the bleakest vista in New York on a wintry day is a view of the Polo Grounds from a view of that lofty ledge, Coogan's Bluff. The grandstand, bleachers and the playing field so often thunderous and swaying with milling, screaming humanity seem caught in an eerie frozen stillness. Not even a deserted theater, where the most of spurs including George M. Cohan will refuse to go after midnight, is so spooky.

On way from the Polo Grounds we swerved around that high treasured peak of the elevated Zoe Beckley named Suicide Curve. It was once a sort of signboard to eternity, climaxed, after almost a weekly effort, by one week or four attempts. But two who made the leap and lived horribly crippled despoiled its gruesome popularity. The suicide, once nerved for his endeavor, wants to be certain of results.

Yet I often wonder if all suicides do "nerve themselves" for their desperate act. I know one instance I believe the off-guard whim of a split second, a lightning flash of uncontrollable madness. The victim in good health, finances and spirits, left a group of us at Moquin's for his apartment to pack for a trip to Montreal. He was gone but 20 minutes when we heard that in his hotel room he had slashed a jugular with a razor. It was evident he was just about to place the razor in his traveling bag when something snapped. And it happened. Nothing ever developed to show the slightest reason for such an act.

The late and beloved Francis Wilson was a rare soul and extraordinary scholar. One morning 15 years ago he stepped into his club barbershop and told the Italian tonsor to fix him up; he was off for six months in Italy. "I'm going to learn the language," he said. "When I return we shall speak only in your tongue." And he did until his last visit, a few weeks ago.

Insomnia cure for your next White Night. And like that—you are asleep.

BURNS WEALTH FOR SPITE

Just because he does not like his relatives, Ramon Ibanez, the richest man of El Pobo, Spain, burned $3000 of his fortune and emptied a jar of coins into his well. When shocked prospective heirs asked why, he replied: "I did it so that none would enjoy the income from the sweat of my brow."

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—State department historians, now preparing to publish the diplomatic documents of the Harding administration, recently came across a note sent to Cuba by the then secretary of state, Charles Evans Hughes.

It advised Cuba, in no uncertain terms, that the best remedy for its bulging sugar crop was to plow up a considerable portion of the cane sugar fields. The note was rather emphatic advice for a secretary of state to be sending, even to a country where the United States enjoyed special Platt amendment privileges.

Therefore, state department officials hesitated about publishing it. Mr. Hughes, they said among themselves, now occupies the exalted position of chief justice of the supreme court. It might be embarrassing to have his note made public.

Word of this hesitation reached Charley Michelson, astute strategist of the Democratic national committee.

"What!" said Michelson. "A Republican advised a foreign country to plow up its sugar crop?"

"That is going to be our answer to the question of the AAA. There is no doubt about whether that note is going to be published even if I have to take it up with the President."

JOHN ROOSEVELT

JOHN ROOSEVELT, Harvard sophomore, is adopting his father's device of press conferences to straighten out his publicity difficulties.

John got a couple of "raw deals" from the Boston newspapers recently. 1. The Boston Herald reported erroneously that he had turned down a bid to the Hasty Pudding club. 2. The morning after his automobile accident in East Boston the Boston American called him up at 2 a. m. to ask him how he was sleeping.

So lanky John called a conference of the Harvard correspondents of the Boston papers for 3 p. m., Oct. 17, at his Dunster House room. Of the six correspondents, three appeared at the conference—American, Herald-Traveler, and Post. The others—Globe, Advertiser-Record, and Transcript—"forgot" or didn't care.

No refreshments were served at the conference, and John was the only Roosevelt present. He opened with a remark about "all the papers here" being "anti-father" and asked the boys to be "good fellows" and "go easy" on him in the future.

The politicians from both parties have their ears almost glued to the microphone to hear whether the radio priest is going to be pro or anti-New Deal.

Present indications are that he has come back on the Roosevelt bandwagon. Joe Kennedy, former head of the securities-exchange commission, is credited with doing the converting when he took Coughlin to Hyde Park last summer.

During that conference, Coughlin complained about Roosevelt's failure to bring about drastic currency inflation, but otherwise was friendly.

Whatever he says, Coughlin is going to tell it to a lot more people this winter. He has increased his radio network to include stations in Salt Lake City, Los Angeles, Denver and San Francisco. Before, he only went as far west as the Mississippi river.

This new network is going to cost the Detroit priest a total of $300,000, much of it being spent for telephone transmission to radio stations, rather than time on the air itself. To help meet the increased cost, Coughlin is cutting his time down from one hour to 45 minutes, eliminating the music.

"IN THIS CORNER . . ."

GEORGE PEEK may be down, but he is not out.

Twice thrown for a loss by Secretary Cordell Hull in their feud over the administration's tariff policy, the burly head of the Export-Import bank is determined to have another go at it.

Peek returned to Washington for a few days last week after a three-month vacation—and confided to intimates that he has the ground work ready to renew his battle with the secretary of state.

The new Peek plan will unfold when congress reconvenes in January. It involves about senate bill No. 3464, which was quietly slipped into the hopper by Senator J. "Ham" Lewis in the closing days of the last session.

The measure, of which Peek is the real author, would establish a federal foreign trade board with extensive powers. It would absorb all government trade agencies now in existence. This would take from Hull his pet bureau for the negotiation of reciprocal tariff treaties, leaving him only the diplomatic end of the negotiations.

Should Peek succeed in putting through his bill—most unlikely—it will make him top man in the New Deal's foreign trade setup. If he loses, it will probably mean the end of his official life—in the Roosevelt regime.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

FRIENDS of General Hugh Johnson say that White House Secretary Louis Howe agrees with him that the President should house-clean the official family. It seems that Louis knew Johnson was writing the magazine article in which he belabored certain New Deal policies. . . . Senator George Norris, who has continued working in Washington since the adjournment of congress, has now departed for Nebraska. He expects to return early in December. . . . In the latest batch of NRA dismissals, numbering about 500, practically all the discharged were in the $1400-a-year salary group, with only a few above that figure. The "front steps" of the White House once again are visible. The fence erected early in the summer, to hide the work of modernizing the kitchen, has been removed.

SHOULD NOT SWEAR

To "discourage swearing" among Italian troops, military chaplains will shortly present to each soldier a little book of "short and fragrant anecdotes." The work is fully illustrated and small enough to fit a uniform pocket. It is hoped to make the fighters polite as well as efficient.

One Man's Opinion

By Duncan Ellsworth Clark

EDITOR'S NOTE—Here is an informative, analytical daily feature on current topics. The opinions expressed in this column are not necessarily the same as those held by The Journal.

All Is Well, Says President

THE President returns from his protracted fishing trip in high fettle. Landing at Charlestown, S. C., the home-coming hero exults that his prosperity is coming out from that much-maligned corner.

"Prosperity is returning," he tells a hungry people, "because we have planned it so." Reminds one of the small boy who boasted how "I and dad shot the bear."

AN OBSERVER needs no bias to point out that the president's claim to credit for returning prosperity is the wildest balderdash. That as long as he was leading prosperity refused her smiles. That when he let up a little conditions improved immediately. And that results have been best when he and his "big boys" went fishing for a month.

THE American people have a gluttonous appetite for baloney. And the President is an adept at cutting it thin and smearing it on. He has a marvelous knack of taking credit when some little credit is due, and of artfully dodging blame when it is headed his way. Of course, that is a very prominent trait in high-powered executives.

POLOGISTS for the administration are quite ready to put blame for failure on the President, and his henchmen. On the Frankfurt-Tugwells, the Moleys, the Johnsons. They choose to ignore the fact that all of these manipulators were selected by the President, that they hold office at his pleasure, and are directly responsible to him alone. Responsibility for failure rests squarely on the President himself.

IT IS so easy to look to government for help in all our troubles. And government adopts the policy of encouraging this expectancy. It likes the role of Santa Claus, the dispenser of all bounty, the very climax of wisdom and generosity. Instead of correcting evils at their sources it is more popular to treat the symptoms. The net result is for people to rush to the government with all their problems, like a blubbering child holding his bruised finger for mother to kiss.

ALL Such paternalism, however, ultimately costs much more than it is worth. Free institutions disappear under the sweetened pap of government patronage. Muscles sag, patriotism falters, spirit decays. Despotisms always take this road to power.

"Prosperity is returning," he tells a hungry people, "because we have planned it so." Reminds one of the small boy who boasted how "I and dad shot the bear."

AN OBSERVER needs no bias to point out that the president's claim to credit for returning prosperity is the wildest balderdash. That as long as he was leading prosperity refused her smiles. That when he let up a little conditions improved immediately. And that results have been best when he and his "big boys" went fishing for a month.

THE American people have a gluttonous appetite for baloney. And the President is an adept at cutting it thin and smearing it on. He has a marvelous knack of taking credit when some little credit is due, and of artfully dodging blame when it is headed his way. Of course, that is a very prominent trait in high-powered executives.

POLOGISTS for the administration are quite ready to put

blame for failure on the President, and his henchmen. On the Frankfurt-Tugwells, the Moleys, the Johnsons. They choose to ignore the fact that all of these manipulators were selected by the President, that they hold office at his pleasure, and are directly responsible to him alone. Responsibility for failure rests squarely on the President himself.

IT IS so easy to look to government for help in all our troubles. And government adopts the policy of encouraging this expectancy. It likes the role of Santa Claus, the dispenser of all bounty, the very climax of wisdom and generosity. Instead of correcting evils at their sources it is more popular to treat the symptoms. The net result is for people to rush to the government with all their problems, like a blubbering child holding his bruised finger for mother to kiss.

ALL Such paternalism, however, ultimately costs much more than it is worth. Free institutions disappear under the sweetened pap of government patronage. Muscles sag, patriotism falters, spirit decays. Despotisms always take this road to power.

SKINNY SKRIBBLES

Around and About Town

With C. F. (Skinny) SKIRVIN

Information imparted to me by orange ranchers who have windbreak protection, is that the damage was much less to those groves which had tree defense. Not so many years ago ranchers removed windbreaks on the theory they absorbed too much moisture. Now the opinion is they returned good dividends. There is an expanding opinion among ranchers for replanting trees which will grow quickly, and of such strength to withstand high velocity. This is another case of it's an ill wind that blows no suggestion.

Western Union picks on my number for information about how to deliver a telegram to a family named Barker who is celebrating a golden wedding anniversary, and I tell 'em if they will go to the 400 block on South Birch street they will hear "Dad" Barker laugh, and that's the house.

My friend Martin Murray of Huntington Beach picked Oct. 29 to Nov. 2 as a storm period. I wouldn't want Martin to feel like I did not have any faith in his prediction, but just as a precaution I had the irrigation company turn the water into my grove.

Santa Ana who held one of the Irish Free State hospital sweepstakes tickets received a telegram yesterday which had more thrills and disappointments in it than the Indianapolis racing classic. It started out by asking the holder to "send fifty pounds." Boy, that was inflation. The rest of the message was a disappointment. It was one of the Ventura newspaper boys wanting fifty pounds of 12-point rule. That was deflation.

Just for a moment it occurred to me that the Rotarians had gone to the dogs. Look at the frontispiece of this month's Rotarian and maybe you will excuse me for the momentary opinion.

Midwest relative gets a California paper about the wind and the fire and all the elements which vied with each other for supremacy during the late unpleasantness, and writes that she prayed the relative's property escaped. Well, after an inspection the Californian sent back word to keep on praying.

It would require a whole flock of tree surgeons to set broken limbs in walnut groves. That is most of them are beyond repair, and amputation the only remedy.

Santa Ana tourist mails a card just in time to reach me during the peak of our storm. By contrast read this: "Having a fine trip, good weather, and smooth sailing." Wait till that tourist gets a look at his grove. He'll probably buy another ticket, and then probably he won't. He has other interests here.

The name of the party who called my attention to a Santa Ana poster has escaped my recollection. When it returns, you'll know it. He will make a front page and I'll get a spot right next to him, and it won't be for manslaughter. My resources do not justify any such extravagance as a Santa Claus sign would indicate.

Guy Gilbert tells me he is program chairman for a certain service club, and that the job is just a pain in the neck to him. Guy, don't worry. There is no limit to that affliction.

According to the official program for the Elks circus there are 31 acts. I would advise taking your lunch, that is if you propose to stay through the performance. However, there are a lot of folk who want to get their money's worth.

My friend Harry V. Hanson is home from some place. He did not tell me so, but not having seen him for several days I just concluded he had been away, and I wanted him to have a vacation, anyway.

Henry Meehan, guardian for the California highway patrol, offers a differentiation between the man who wears suspenders and belt and the one who uses neither. He says the former is a pessimist and the latter an optimist. I just classified that suspender-belt business as another hold-up.

Conversation with Marion Flipple of McPherson extracts the advice that if windbreaks are coming back that blue gum is the rancher's best bet. Marion has been in Orange county ever since wild oats and mustard seed furnished food and shelter for crows. He believes the rancher must return to some sort of protection against the destructive wind and heat currents which inflict severe injury to the groves. For a time thought I was sitting easy, as one side of my orchard is on Blue Gum, but Marion says it takes more than a name to defeat a storm.
